How Evidence Based Acquisition can work for you

Increase Student Satisfaction, Improve Learning Outcomes, and Acquire content tailored specifically to your library user's needs

Invested in by Multiple Faculties

Expand Your Content Pool for a Wider Spread of Usage

Select the number of subjects you'd like to include in the content pool to create a comprehensive collection that caters to the needs of multiple faculties. With a diverse range of subjects, students and researchers from various disciplines can access relevant materials, fostering interdisciplinary exploration and collaboration.

Focused on Under-Performing Subjects

Boost Academic Growth with Targeted Investment

Base your content pool on specific subjects that require further investment to create a niche collection. By focusing resources on under-performing subjects, you can address educational gaps and provide students with the materials they need for comprehensive learning. This targeted approach supports academic growth and enhances student achievement.

Focused on Titles with High Denials

Reduce Risk and Enhance User Experience

With an EBA, you gain evidence of demand for titles in advance, mitigating the perceived risk associated with large one-off purchases. By ensuring the availability of requested materials, you provide a more positive browsing experience for your users, resulting in increased user satisfaction, engagement, and overall usage of library resources.

To Lessen Workload for Single Title Order Purchases

Streamline Workflows and Optimize Resource Allocation

Choosing an EBA offers better value for money compared to ordering titles individually. Moreover, it significantly reduces the workload of your team by minimizing the number of daily title orders that need to be placed. This streamlined process frees up valuable time and resources, allowing your library staff to focus on other critical tasks.

Personalised to Your Specific Requirements

Tailored Solutions for Optimal Resource Allocation

Our EBAs provide full flexibility and customization options, enabling you to include only the titles or subject areas that align with your library's requirements. Exclude areas that aren't relevant to your library's focus to prevent wasted investment. This personalized approach ensures that resources are allocated efficiently, maximizing the value of your EBA.

Students are working on an urgent need for a sustainable tomorrow: help them with it today

Your students have grown up with ethical veganism, eco fashion, climate action and now a global pandemic. For them, a sustainable life is how they expect to live. And many expect their university to help them create that future.

Sustainable Development Goals Online is a rich multimedia collection of academic resources that you can purchase either as a complete annual collection or in tailored sections to best integrate sustainability into your courses. It will help you enable your students to address the key challenges and deliver the change they want to throughout their careers and lives.

CREATING A SUSTAINABLE FUTURE FOR US ALL

The UN's 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) provide a call to action to create a sustainable future for all of us. They were adopted by all 193 world leaders who agreed to end all forms of poverty, fight inequalities, and tackle climate change. That call to action is one that speaks to today's students, whether their concerns are around developing clean technology, reversing climate change, reducing the gender pay gap, or enabling developing nations to grow sustainably. And it's one that you can use as a framework for teaching about sustainability in a huge range of subjects.

SDG Online
Taylor & Francis supports the Sustainable Development Goals

WHY SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS ONLINE?

» As well as purchasing the whole collection – allowing you to meet the teaching and research needs of a broad range of departments and faculties – you can also create your own package based on individual goals, allowing you to purchase content relevant to specific faculties or courses.

» It has been created by Taylor & Francis in association with the United Nations' PRME division and guided by an international Advisory Board of academics, practitioners, policy-makers, those working in third sector, government, and NGO contexts.

» Helping your instructors and programme leaders to integrate multimedia resources into their curricula and meet the needs of today's digital-first students, this content includes not only book chapters and journal articles but videos, presentations, and a range of other Teaching & Learning materials.
